Smith, Hyatt, and Weston to Speak On July 25, at the Court House Mr. E. D. Smith, President of the South Carolina division of the Southern Cotton Growers Association; Mr. F. H. Hyatt, National President of the Association; and Mr. Erank Weston, Secretary of the State Association will make speeches anent the coming price of cotton.

This is a question of vital importance to every man in the county, for on the price o cotton depends our prosperity. These gentlemen are auxious to meet every man who h in anywise interested in this subject. Members of the Farmers Union have a special invitation to come and hear the plan as will be outlined by these speakers.

All three of these men are good speakers as those who have beard them will attest. If the millions of cotton growers of the South would pay a little more attention to the sale of their product it might mean mil lions of dollars to the South. There is one thing connected with the cotton movement which is much to be regretted and that is the spirit of rivalry between the Southern Cotton Growers Association and the Farmers Educational and Co-operative Union, "The house divided against itself

The truth of this statement is as immutable as the laws of the Medes and Persions and as long as there are farmers who are working for the welfare of any particular organization merely as an organization in stead of for the good to be accomplished through the organization, no good can ac

The majority of the farmers are working for the welfare of the farmer, but there are men in both these organizations who are pulling against each other instead of together. Such a man is not worthy to lead the farmer Such a man can only stir up strife. Both these organizations are strong and there is no doubt that both have done a great amount of good, but they ought to get closer together There should be some action taken toward the amalgamation, or at least the fraterniza tion, of these two great forces. They are working toward the same end, they are the same people, why should they be at cross purposes? As a rule a man does not inspire confidence in you by attacking others whose purpose, zeal and integrity go unquestioned, and when a man in the farmers' union attacks the Cotton Association, or a leader in the Association fights the Union you may know something is wrong.

These two organizations have the very same end in view and they should so marshall their force as to work in perfect har

Does the Order of Railroad Engineers fight the Order of Conductors? No. Does the Order of Plumbers fight the Order of Plumbers No. Do you know of any labor organization that fights other labor organizations? No What, then, in the name of reason, do you expect WHEN ONE COTTON ORGANIZATION FIGHTS ANOTHER, THE INTERESTS OF THE TWO BEING IDENTICAL. The result is inevitable-defeat for both, if not defeat at least

Let the leaders of these two organizations get together and frame a policy by which both can work in harmony. Amalgamation is not necessary, but some unity of action is absolutely essential to success.

There are good men in both organizations. The Union man thinks the best results can be The Union man thinks the best results can be obtained through the Union. The Union is the place for him. The Association man thinks the most good can be accomplished through the Association. The Association is are now passing—the death of their only through the Association. The Association is considered the Association is considered to the construction of the construction of their only onlide. This is a heavy stroke and the parents of the construction of the con the place for him. But let both work in harmony or both will accomplish nothing.

Death of a Good Woman.

Mrs. Matilda Howard Lyon, wife of Judge J. Fuller Lyon, died at her home in Colum bia, S. C., Friday, June 21, 1907, aged sixty years. Several years of her life were spent in Abbeville. She was rich in those womanly graces that attract even the passer by, and those who knew her best loved her Mrs. Lyon was twice married. Her first husband, Mr. Upchurch, was a prominent man of Raleigh, N. C. In December, 1896, she married Judge J. Fuller Lyon, who has always enjoyed the highest esteem and confidence of the people of this county. They have been living for several years in Columbia, where Judge Lyon holds a position as Bond Clerk in the State Treasurer's office. There were times of deep mourning and Let the good work go on. An educated people will be an independent people and a thrifty people. Dr. Carlisle of Wofford College once said that an educated man could do anything better than an uneducated man; that he could even hunt rabbits better."

One of our townsmen was highly honored while attending the reunion in Richmond by being appointed as one of the members of the staff of Major General Andrew J. West commanding the Georgia Division U. C. V. with the rank of Major and assigned as addecamp. We a boeville friends greet you. "Major" Quaries, upon the honor conferred. Mr. Calhoun DeBruhl one of the efficient and hustling clerks in the city post office was off duty a few days of last week enjoying his vacation. He was greatly missed but is now back at his post where he is faithful and true, always courteous and obliging to all. Mr Tilden Lomax the faithful and efficient carrier on route 5 was off last Saturday and his well known and popular "sub" Mr. Frank Dusenberry served the route.

Mr. Eugene McMillau as true and faithful carrier as ever pulled the reins over a horse was sick last Monday and his "sub" Mr. P. D. K. ngh who is efficient, and knows his bus iness, did the service on route 2 going out and coming in on "quick time".

The show hast Saturday came and went very quietly, more than can usually be said of a circus.

Druggists take noticel medicines in liquid form cannot be carried by the rural carriers or through the mails simply "wrapped," but must be securely packed so as to prevent breakage therefore its no use to send it in otherwise, for such is the "law" and it must be obeyed, especially by the carriers.

While the post office is a public place, or a place for the public, it seems to us it is frequently too public for ladies have often made complaint that there are so many nuisances, such as a small "clog dance" or "shuffe" by the colored urchins of the city who congregate in the lobby of the office, and hang about the windows in crowds, and ocasionally a "dog fight" causes the scattering of decent people, and now and then we have a "whistling" gang whose shrill notes deafen the ears of all within half mile around. To the "whistling" gang is "frequently added the loud soprono and tenor," of the latest melodies out, both together filling the air with musical sounds that would "soothe a savage breast" or "split a cabbage" either of which are too much for the officials within, as they have frequently to suspend business to listen to the whirlwind going on outside.

While all these "free" and popular antics are enjoyed by a few we think they are entirely out of place in the lobby of the post-office door, taking a "prop" on one side of the door to read a letter and so ad infinitum. All these and other nuisances about the city should be looked after (it seems to us) by the police who have the right to see and stop them without even a complaint being lodged. Nuisances should no more be tolerated in a public building than on the streets. What say the public?

Union services were held last Sunday night in the Methodist church, Rev. E. B. Kennedy of the A. R. P. Church preaching the sermon from the text "For what is your life? It is seven a vapour, that appeareth for a little time and then vanisheth away." James 4th chapter and latter clause of the 14th verse. His discourse was very fine, proving the Divine inspiration of the bible, which was most edifying and instructive and was closely listened to throughout by the large and appreciative congregation. The occasion of those interesting services was the meeting of the Bible Society of Abbeville District, which affords pleasure and instruction annually to those who attend.

The many friedds of Judge J. Fuller Lyon tender him their sincere sympathy in this dark hour of sorrow—the death of his beloved wife who recently departed this life and entered upon that life in the great beyond that knows no ending, but is full of love, joy and praise. Mrs. Lyon was a most estimable Christian woman, living a life filled with good deeds, and was faithful and true in the Master's work, always ready to assist in the work of the Methodist Episcopal church of which she was a member. Her work on earth is finished and she has gone to her reward, promised to all who are faithful to the end.

NEWS ON ROUTE 3.

Everybody is invited to the big picnic at Fern Cliff school house taught by Mrs. Ads C. Kennedy. The public are invited one and all to attend and bring well filled baskets on Saturday July 6th. This is an ideal place for a picnic, good water, fine shade and hospitable people who always make this annual picnic a grand success in every way.

Dr. W. E. Link is spending this week with his brother Mr. M. J. Link and family. We are glad to announce to the host of friends of Dr. Link that he is rapidly improving and hopes soon to fully regain his usual health. We sincerely hope he may, and that many years of usefuliness and happiness are yet in store for him.

There were times of deep mourning and sore trial in Mrs. Lyon's life; notably when her only daughter, Mrs. A. M. Smith, was stricken down in the flower of young womanhood. This daughter, beautiful and accomplished, was the pride of the mother's beart, and her death left a weight of constant sorrow there,

Mrs. Lyon's remains were taken to Raleigh, her old home, for burial.

Best Evidence of Prosperity.

Twenty years ago there were less than 1006 students in the leading male colleges of this State. Clemson College was then not in extantence. During the past year these same colleges had an attendance of something like 2000 students on her roll. Nor is this all. Fully 200 students on her roll. Nor is this all. Fully 200 students on her roll. Nor is this all. Fully 200 students on her roll. Nor is this all. Fully 200 students on her roll. Is it simply another evidence of prosperity or is it an educational awakening? The large attendance at Clemson can be explained in part. It simply fulfills a purpose that was long ignored by our people, and the popularity of the institu-hall Ground, June 25, 1907.

At half-past five o'clock, June 25, 1907, while the bail game was in progress on the Abbeville diam nd, Lewis Wardiaw Perrin was sitting in a bnggy with his nephew, Mr. Wade S. Cothran, watching the game. Mr. Cothran noticed that Mr. Perrin was leaning heavily on him, but at first thought that he was making himself comfortable. Suddenly Mr. Perrin's head dropped over on Mr. Cothran's shoulder. Mr. Cothran called him by name, and when he made no reply, called for help, Several men who were standing near, hurried to Mr. Cothran. They lifted him out of the buggy and placed him on the grass, where he immediately died, without uttering a word after he was stricken. Physicians James Hill and W. D. Slimbson were present, on the ground, but Mr. Perrin was dead before they reached him.

The death was a great shock to all, and the game was sent for and the body was taken back to the home from which he had but an hour before left in apparent good health.

Mr. Perrin was born May 21, 1839.

He enlisted in the Confederate army, and was Captain of Company C, of the First South Carolina Infantry, regular army; was captured March 25, 1885; imprisoned at Hari Island, N. Y., and at Fort Delaware, for a short time.

He was educated at the South Carolina Col ball Ground, June 25, 1907.

ing that time he was the leading spirit of the cholir.

Mr. Perrin was one of the most public spirited citizens that Abbeville ever had. He was always ready to lend a helping hand or to lead in any enterprise that looked to the welfare of the town. The bringing of the Sesboard Air Line Rallroad to this place waperhaps due more to his efforts than to the efforts of any other single individual.

Mr. Perrin leaves a widow who was Miss McCaw of Yorkville. Their children sre Mrs. T. G. White, Mrs. A. W. Smith, Robert M. Perrin, Lewis W. Perrin, William Perrin, I homas Chiles Perrin. In the life and character of his children are tiving evidences of the excellence of his own character.

The funeral services will be he'd about 10 o'clock Thursday morning in the Pre-byterian church.

Beautifying the Monument. If the Daughters of the Confederacy ar open to suggestions as to how to beautify the surroundings of the Coulederste Monumen we would like to make just one suggestion. Mr. S. M. Shiver, if we are correctly inform ed, has very generously given $100 for building an iron fence around the monument. We would suggest that the fence be put up at once; and that the ground within the fence and the earth now piled up above the coping be fertilized and both places well set or sodded with blue grass. All the sod that is necessary can be had from the enclosure in front of law range which will soon b covered by the new Court House building. The sodding can be done at practically no cost, and in a short time the base of the monment will be a thing of beanty instead of an

Greater Prosperity. Dr. J. S. Moffatt, president of Erskine College, was in town one day last week. He in spires one with the belief that the Associate Reformed church and the Colleges at Due-West are taking on new life. He expects an increased number of students at the colleges, and we believe he will not be disap pointed. The Synod did the right thing in lecting him president of Erskine, but the authorities have not yet fully done the right thing for him and the professors in Erskine They were given a little raise in salary, when the pay should have been doubled. The president and the professors deserve more pay, and the pride, if not 'the vanity, of the church, should see to it that Erskine's profes sors and president receive from $2,000 to $2,500.

The money which the church now sends Mexico should be paid to men in Erskine, to pastors, to the college endowments, and to other good purposes.

Reformed Church.

Reformed Church.

Last Sunday morning the boy sacrament of buptism was celebrated in the Associate Reformed Church, the pastor Rev. E. B. Kennedy, performing the ceremony. After appropriate and impressive remarks, he anounced that infunts might be brought before the chance!, where the fathers and mothers might dedicate them to the service if the L. rd our God. The mothers and athers at the proper time made vows to bring up their chiltren in the nurture and admodition of the Lord.

When Thomas Jordan Bradley was presented his father and mother, William Renwick Bradley and May Lyon Bradley, answered for him.

When William Tatum Bradley received the sacrament, his father and mother, James Foster Bradley and Lillij. Vincent Bradley, answered for him.

When the sacrament was administered to Hugh Wilson Bradley, his father and mother. William Wideman Bradley and May Tusten Bradley slood sponsor for him.

The pastor made a prayer in which he asked a divine blessing. He hoped that an overruling Providence might enable the fathers and mothers to impress the retigious truths upon the minds and hearts of those whose care had been entrusted to them, and that the children might be the joy, of their mothers and fathers, and that when they had reached the years of manhord, their lives might be such as to make them a tower of strength to the church.

Improved in Health, Cordially Greeted by Many Warm Friends.

Mr. W. T. Bradley, treasurer of Abbeville County, came home from Charlotte, N. C., last Monday very much improved in health and greatly encouraged in spirit as to bis condition. The people of Abbeville county and the Associate Reformed Church, each have much more work for him to do. Farmers Are Not Getting Enouh For

When farmers can afford to pay as high wages for field hands as such laborers are getting in town, and farmers' families can afford to dress as well as other folks and enjoy the things generally that people in other callings are doing, then the farmers are getting enough for their products. But until that time comes farmers are not on equal terms with other occupations.

Of course good management in sellng farm products and taking care of the money after it is made, has as much to do with how the farmer gets the benefit of his labor as making good crops and getting good prices.
